

John Bowden, a research chemist with NIST (National Institute of Standards and Technology), works on a liquid chromatography mass spectrometry machine.

Colden Battey, Aquaculture Specialist, stands in front of one of several culture systems at the Hollings Marine Laboratory Aquaculture Section. The versatile system has been used to culture many different animals including oysters, shrimp, red drum, cobia and even alligators.

